October 24, 1893; Hind Head House, Haslemere.
Dear Sir,—My house being so well provided with grates and flues for the generation and distribution of pure warm air, I have been thus enabled to spend my winters in England instead of on a foreign shore.—Yours very John Tyndall.

JOHN TYNDALL.

I have insisted upon my architect adopting the "Grundy" system of pure warm air for Heating and Ventilating Buckhurst Manor. I should not like my house warmed with any other method, for I like plenty of ventilation and do not approve of stagnant air.

PREFACE.

The Publishers have again to thank the Members of the Medical Profession for their assistance in the compilation of this, the Ninth edition of Kelly's London Medical Directory.

In the present edition, the usual increase in the number of pages will be found; this is due, as in the past, to the greater fulness of the entries rather than to the increase in the number of Medical men practising in London and the Suburbs. No new feature has been added to the book during the present year, but the revision has been carefully carried down to the latest date.

The Publishers again beg earnestly to invite the assistance of any who may detect errors, or may dissent from the description, or classification, of any Institution, Office, or Individual.
